

Interactive Attendance Graph

Use Kidspiration to generate an interactive attendance graph focusing on a daily Yes/No question related to content area instruction. This is a great way to integrate content and technology while into your morning. The graph supports daily instruction and eliminates the need for time-consuming “roll call” at the beginning of each school day.

Students drag their picture to either the Yes or No box on a computer in the classroom. After “attendance is taken” the teacher can engage students in a brief discussion related to their responses.